HISD TEACHER APPRAISAL AND DEVELOPMENT
Instructional Practice and Professional Expectation Rubrics

HOUSTON INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

A GLOBAL DISTRICT IN A GLOBAL CITY
In order to ensure all HISD students are Global Graduates and ready for the world, we must provide them access to authentic, learner-centered, personalized learning opportunities that yield achievement gains at higher levels and allow them to develop the skills needed to compete in today’s global economy.

In an effort to transform tier-one instruction, which will lead to the development of Global Graduates, HISD has created a teacher profile that contains a list of six desired competencies to guide teachers through professional learning, support, and development. Leaders in HISD are committed to ensuring teachers have the resources, access, and support needed to develop these competencies.

HISD TEACHER PROFILE
Deeper-Learning Cultivator
Designs learning experiences that develop academic mindsets and foster critical thinking, innovation, and collaboration. Ensures mastery of core academic content through application of knowledge and skills in novel and meaningful contexts.

Social & Emotional Learning Facilitator
Creates a learner-centered community with safe and flexible environments to meet the needs of all learners. Develops attitudes and skills of learners to establish and maintain relationships, be empathetic, and make responsible decisions.

Personalized Learning Architect
Curates, creates, and collaborates with learners to design meaningful experiences that are based on individual goals, develop knowledge and skills, provide choice in path and resources, utilize strengths, and embed opportunities for self and peer evaluation.

Literacy Developer
Designs and facilitates learning experiences that develop necessary skills for fluent reading, writing, speaking, and communicating. Develops proficiency in use of technology to create, analyze, and synthesize multimedia to skillfully communicate and collaborate with global audiences for a variety of purposes.

Lifelong Learner
Seeks feedback and growth opportunities to develop, lead, and collaborate with all stakeholders. Persists in the continual development of the technical, content, and pedagogical knowledge necessary for teaching diverse learners.

Data Driven
Designs and uses multiple forms of data to monitor and adjust learning experiences. Ensures students utilize precise and timely feedback to inform goal-setting and to be adaptive and productive learners.

Instructional Practice Criteria

Planning (PL)

- PL-1: Develops student learning goals
- PL-2: Collects, tracks, and uses student data to drive instruction
- PL-3: Designs effective lesson plans, units, and assessments

Professionalism (PR)

PR-1: Complies with policies and procedures at school
pg. 27

PR-2: Treats colleagues with respect throughout all aspects of work
pg. 29

PR-3: Complies with teacher attendance policies
pg. 31

PR-4: Dresses professionally according to school policy
pg. 33

PR-5: Collaborates with colleagues
pg. 35

PR-6: Implements school rules
pg. 37

PR-7: Communicates with parents throughout the year
pg. 39

PR-8: Seeks feedback in order to improve performance
pg. 41

PR-9: Participates in professional development and applies learning
pg. 43

Instruction (I)

I-1: Facilitates organized, student-centered, objective-driven lessons

I-2: Checks for student understanding and responds to student misunderstanding

I-3: Differentiates instruction for student needs by employing a variety of instructional strategies

I-4: Engages students in work that develops higher-level thinking skills

I-5: Maximizes instructional time

I-6: Communicates content and concepts to students

I-7: Promotes high academic expectations for students

I-10: Builds a positive and respectful classroom environment
PL-1 Develops Student Learning Goals

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 1 in this criterion:

- Teacher develops annual student learning goals that do not align with appropriate standards and curricula, or are not measurable, or the teacher does not develop student learning goals.
- Teacher does not communicate the annual learning goals to students or does not communicate how those goals will be assessed.
- Teacher does not communicate precise and timely feedback to students on progress toward annual learning goals.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 2 in this criterion:

- Teacher develops annual student learning goals that are:
  a) aligned with appropriate district content standards and curricula
  b) measurable using end-of-course assessments and/or rubrics
  c) targeted to the class as a whole, rather than differentiated to meet the needs of individual and groups of students
- Teacher communicates annual learning goals to students and explains how those goals will be assessed.
- Teacher communicates precise and timely feedback to students on progress toward annual learning goals.
- Students demonstrate awareness of annual student learning goals but do not show investment in achieving them.

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to:
classroom observations; reviews of annual, unit, and lesson planning materials; reviews of individual and group student work products; conversations during teacher/appraiser conferences; and direct questioning of students during an observation.

Notes:

1. Appraisers should take into account the number of students that an individual teaches when evaluating the degree to which learning goals are individualized. An effective teacher in a departmentalized secondary classroom may have differentiated learning goals for groups of students rather than for individual students.
2. This indicator can be assessed through direct interactions with students or when the teacher creates opportunities for students to discuss annual learning goals.
The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 3 in this criterion:

- Teacher develops annual learning goals that are:
  a) aligned with appropriate required content standards and curricula
  b) measurable using end-of-course assessments and/or rubrics
  c) ambitious and feasible, given student skill levels diagnosed at the beginning of the year
  d) differentiated to meet the needs of individual students and groups of students

- Teacher uses goals to develop an annual plan that:
  a) prioritizes content and skills that are a prerequisite for or utilized in future courses
  b) includes specific content and skills for enrichment and remediation of students, based on their starting points
  c) groups and sequences content and skills into logical units so students build upon prior knowledge and master a variety of objectives at an increasing level of sophistication

- Teacher consistently communicates annual learning goals to students and explains how those goals will be assessed.

- Teacher communicates precise and timely feedback to students on progress toward learning goals.

- Students demonstrate investment in achieving annual student learning goals by making measureable progress toward mastery.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 4 in this criterion:

All indicators for Level 3 are met, and some or all of the following evidence is demonstrated:

- Students collaborate with the teacher to develop and invest themselves toward individual annual learning goals.
- Students articulate their annual learning goals and how achievement of those goals will be assessed.
- Students understand that mastery of annual learning goals will lead them toward college and career readiness.
PL–2 Collects, Tracks, and Uses Student Data to Drive Instruction

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 1 in this criterion:
- Teacher does not accurately determine student mastery of lesson objectives.
- Teacher may collect data but does not appropriately monitor or adjust lesson plans, unit plans, or instruction.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 2 in this criterion:
- Teacher uses assessments to determine mastery of lesson objectives but may not obtain a thorough and accurate understanding of student progress toward annual goals and unit objectives.
- Teacher analyzes student progress data to determine the effectiveness of past instruction, diagnose why students did or did not master objectives, and monitor and adjust lesson and unit plans appropriately, although the teacher may need support or guidance to do so consistently.
- Students have a general sense of whether or not they are successful in the course but may not know their progress in relation to specific objectives or annual learning goals.

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to: classroom observations; reviews of annual, unit, and lesson planning materials; reviews of individual and group student work products; conversations during teacher/appraiser conferences; and direct questioning of students during an observation.

Notes:
1. The unit objectives, annual goals, and individual learning goals should be the same objectives assessed in Criterion PL-1: “Develops student learning goals.”
2. Assessment data could include diagnostic beginning-of-the-year assessments and the previous year’s end-of-year data. Diagnostic data may be obtained from statewide, district, school, or teacher-generated assessments (e.g., portfolios, performance tasks, student interest surveys or other student artifacts) or weekly data capture procedures.
3. An example of monitoring and adjusting lesson and unit plans may include but is not limited to using formative assessment data to inform re-teaching, remediation, or enrichment with student groups, and adjustments in pacing.
4. This indicator can be assessed through direct interactions with students or when the teacher creates opportunities for students to discuss their progress toward annual learning goals and unit objectives.
The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 3 in this criterion:

- Teacher accurately determines student progress toward and mastery of objectives and annual student learning goals using multiple methods of assessment.
- Teacher uses a system to track student assessment data, including individual and class progress toward meeting unit objectives and annual learning goals.
- Teacher analyzes student progress data at key points during a unit and during the year to:
  - a) determine the effectiveness of past instruction and diagnose why students did or did not master objectives
  - b) monitor and adjust upcoming lesson and unit plans.
- Teacher uses analysis of student progress data to plan differentiated instruction, including intervention and enrichment.
- Students articulate their performance and progress relative to unit objectives and annual learning goals.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 4 in this criterion:

All indicators for Level 3 are met, and some or all of the following evidence is demonstrated:

- Teacher uses assessment data at multiple points throughout the year to reassess student skill levels and refine annual student learning goals.
- Students track their own progress toward meeting unit objectives and annual learning goals using classroom systems.
PL–3 Designs Effective Lesson Plans, Units, and Assessments

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 1 in this criterion:

- Teacher selects or develops student learning objectives that do not align to annual learning goals or do not align to required curricula, or the teacher does not plan objectives and units in advance.
- Teacher selects or develops assessments that do not accurately measure student mastery of learning objectives or do not assess student mastery of objectives.
- Teacher identifies or develops lesson plans that describe learning activities that are not aligned with lesson objectives, do not describe lesson objectives, do not describe how student learning will be assessed, or the teacher does not write lesson plans.
- Teacher identifies or develops lessons that do not allow students to apply knowledge through real-world and/or hands-on experiences.
- Teacher identifies or develops lessons in which students do not use technology in activities and/or the use of technology does not support annual learning goals.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 2 in this criterion:

- Teacher selects or develops student learning objectives that cover required content and skills but may not be closely aligned to annual learning goals.
- Teacher plans units that include lessons, objectives, and assessments that accurately measure mastery of student learning objectives, though lessons, objectives, and assessments may not be closely aligned.
- Teacher identifies or develops lesson plans that describe lesson objectives, learning activities, and assessments, though the learning activities and assessments are only partially aligned to mastery of lesson objectives.
- Teacher identifies or develops lessons that partially allow students to apply knowledge through real-world and/or hands-on experiences.
- Teacher identifies or develops lessons in which students inconsistently use technology in activities to support annual learning goals.

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to: reviews of annual, unit, and lesson planning materials and conversations during teacher/appraiser conferences.

Notes:

1. The unit objectives, annual goals, and individual learning goals should be the same objectives assessed in Criterion PL-1: “Develops student learning goals” and PL-2: “Collects, tracks, and uses student data to drive instruction.”
2. This criterion only assesses a teacher’s planning. The way in which a teacher checks for student understanding during a lesson should be assessed under Criterion I-2: “Checks for student understanding and responds to student misunderstanding.”
The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 3 in this criterion:

- Teacher selects or develops student learning objectives that are tightly aligned to annual learning goals and are measurable using assessments or rubrics.
- Teacher plans backward-designed units by:
  a) selecting or developing assessments and/or rubrics that accurately measure student mastery of unit learning objectives
  b) designing a sequence of lessons that leads students toward mastery of unit learning objectives as determined by those assessments
- Teacher identifies or develops lesson plans that describe: lesson objectives, learning activities that are sequenced to lead students toward mastery of those objectives, and how student mastery of objectives will be assessed.
- Teacher identifies or develops lessons that allow students to apply knowledge through real-world and/or hands-on experiences.
- Teacher identifies or develops lessons in which students regularly use technology in activities to support annual learning goals.
- Teacher allocates adequate time within a unit for students to master each objective while maintaining fidelity to district curriculum requirements.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 4 in this criterion:

All indicators for Level 3 are met, and some or all of the following evidence is demonstrated:

- Teacher organizes units based on key concepts, enduring understandings, essential questions, or important themes.
- Teacher identifies or writes lesson plans that describe opportunities within each lesson to check for student understanding and assess student mastery of lesson and unit objectives.
- Teacher identifies or develops and implements unit and lesson plans that include cross-disciplinary connections to key concepts or enduring understandings in more than one content area.
I-1 FACILITATES ORGANIZED, STUDENT-CENTERED, OBJECTIVE-DRIVEN LESSONS

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 1 in this criterion:

- Teacher states an objective that does not convey what students are learning and doing in a lesson, does not state an objective, or there may not be a clear objective to the lesson.
- Teacher uses instructional strategies that do not successfully lead students toward mastery of lesson objectives.
- Students have limited or no opportunities to, independently or collaboratively, practice what they are learning during the lesson, or lesson activities are not aligned to the lesson objective.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 2 in this criterion:

- Teacher states the lesson objective and its importance, although it may be unclear whether students understand what they are learning and what they will be doing in a lesson.
- Teacher selects instructional strategies that align to lesson objectives but may not be sequenced cohesively to lead students toward mastery of the objective.
- Teacher provides information about assessments, although students may be unclear about how their understanding will be assessed.
- Teacher explains connection between lesson content and prior student knowledge, but it is unclear if students make the connection.
- Students have opportunities to independently or collaboratively practice and demonstrate the skills and knowledge they are learning during the lesson, although those opportunities may be brief, unsubstantial, or infrequent.

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to: classroom observations, reviews of planning materials, reviews of individual and group student work products, and direct questioning of students during an observation.

---

Notes:

1. For example, students connect lesson content to prior learning, personal experiences, or individual interests to build conceptual understanding beyond recall.
2. This indicator can be assessed through direct interactions with students or through teacher-created opportunities for students to discuss the lesson objective(s).
The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 3 in this criterion:

- Teacher facilitates a cohesive lesson in which all lesson elements are sequenced and organized in order to lead students toward mastery of the objective.
- Teacher selects and executes instructional strategies that effectively support lesson objectives.
- Students connect lesson content to prior knowledge in order to build new learning.\(^1\)
- Students explain the lesson’s objective and what they will be doing in the lesson in their own words.\(^2\)
- Students articulate how their work will be assessed or what assessment the teacher is using to measure their learning.
- Students independently or collaboratively practice, apply, and demonstrate the skills and knowledge they are learning during the lesson through meaningful learning activities.
- Students demonstrate an understanding of lesson content and skills through correct responses in student work or by asking relevant clarifying or extension questions.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 4 in this criterion:

All indicators for Level 3 are met, and some or all of the following evidence is demonstrated:

- Students explain how the lesson connects to previous learning and broader unit learning goals.
- Students take a leadership role during most of the lesson and require little or no guidance from the teacher to maintain momentum.
1-2 Checks for Student Understanding and Responds to Student Misunderstanding

<tr>
<td>• Teacher addresses student misunderstanding in response to checks, although response may not be immediate, may not fully meet student needs, and/or the flow of the lesson may be interrupted.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Teacher provides limited feedback to students during the lesson, but students are aware if they correctly understand the content.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Teacher provides students with limited opportunities to apply knowledge after misunderstood content has been clarified.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to: classroom observations, reviews of planning materials, reviews of individual and group student work products, and direct questioning of students during an observation.

Notes:

1 Examples of systems and routines to check for student understanding include but are not limited to: “fist-of-five,” individual whiteboards, wireless student-response tools, or exit slips. Teachers may also use data from formative and summative assessments to diagnose student understanding.

<td>• Teacher obtains a thorough understanding of individual students’ progress, academic needs with regard to the lesson objective, and root causes of misunderstanding.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Teacher provides feedback throughout the lesson that affirms correctly understood content, clarifies misunderstood content, and extends student thinking.</td>
<td>• Teacher creates opportunities for students to self-assess their understanding of lesson objectives and provide feedback to the teacher.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Teacher provides students with opportunities to apply knowledge after misunderstood content has been clarified.</td>
<td>• Teacher uses clear systems and routines for assessing student understanding during the lesson.¹</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to:

- Classroom observations
- Reviews of planning materials
- Reviews of individual and group student work products
- Direct questioning of students during an observation

Notes:

1. An example of being responsive to students’ needs may include utilizing instructional tools to address and affirm students’ various learning styles, including student gender and linguistic and cultural differences.

2. Appraisers should pay particular attention to whether teachers are applying best practices for differentiating depth, pace, delivery mode, and providing additional support and enrichment for special student populations including English Language Learners, gifted and talented students, and students with special learning needs.

3. This includes meeting any required student modifications based on IEP goals or language-proficiency levels. Potential strategies for providing extra support include flexible grouping, leveled texts, tiered assignments, extension assignments, or enrichment projects.

4. For example, students manage their own work calendars and daily schedules to stay on track, so they are free to move through courses at their own pace.
The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 3 in this criterion:

Students engage with lesson content in multiple ways that are appropriate to lesson objectives and responsive to their needs.¹

- Teacher adapts the depth, pace, and delivery mode of what is taught in a lesson to allow students to access the lesson at multiple levels of challenge.²
- Teacher provides extra support, enrichment, or variation of work in order to meet the needs of each student, when necessary.³
- Teacher strategically utilizes flexible instructional groups and varied instructional arrangements that are appropriate to the students and to the instructional purposes of the lesson.
- Students engage in learning experiences or performance tasks that allow for interest- or skill-based choices in processes or products.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 4 in this criterion:

All indicators for Level 3 are met, and some or all of the following evidence is demonstrated:

- Teacher offers individualized instruction based on assessment of student progress toward mastery of lesson objectives to ensure the lesson is challenging and accessible to all students.
- Students collaborate with the teacher to design interest-based interdisciplinary learning experiences or performance tasks that demonstrate mastery of the lesson or unit objectives.
- Students know their academic needs and actively seek learning experiences or tasks that suit their level of mastery and their learning profile.⁴
I-4 Engages Students in Work That Develops Higher-Level Thinking Skills

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 1 in this criterion:

- Teacher provides limited or no opportunities for students to engage in work that requires higher-level thinking skills.
- Students do not employ higher-level thinking skills during the lesson.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 2 in this criterion:

- Teacher uses instructional tasks that require students to use higher-level thinking skills.
- Teacher provides limited guidance and support to students in employing higher-level thinking skills.
- Students employ higher-level thinking skills during the lesson but may not do so in a way substantially connected with the mastery of the lesson objectives.

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to: classroom observations, reviews of planning materials, and reviews of individual and group student work products.

Notes:

1 Examples of instructional tasks requiring higher-level thinking skills may include but are not limited to: solving problems with predictable and non-predictable solutions, noticing patterns and finding relationships, generating hypotheses, planning tasks to address problems, generating reasonable arguments and explanations, predicting outcomes, assessing progress toward goals, communicating about learning, engaging in advanced-level reading and writing tasks, and project-based learning with the incorporation of technology.

2 Examples of higher-level thinking skills include: reflecting on learning, generating new insights, asking questions, making decisions, analyzing, classifying, comparing, evaluating, explaining, summarizing, synthesizing, and solving real-world problems that have value to the student. Teachers are encouraged to refer to Bloom’s Taxonomy and the Rigor/Relevance Framework as reference guides for understanding higher- and lower-order cognitive skills and their application.

3 For example, a student may use the internet to conduct a search for information on an issue that has multiple perspectives. The student then evaluates each perspective to establish a well-informed opinion on the issue.
The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 3 in this criterion:

- Teacher embeds higher-level thinking skills into the lesson objective so that mastery of the objective requires students to meaningfully employ higher-level thinking skills.
- Teacher uses a variety of instructional strategies and questioning techniques to develop students’ higher-level thinking skills.\(^1\)
- Teacher provides students the support and guidance (e.g., scaffolding) needed to apply higher-level thinking skills.
- Students employ higher-level thinking skills to engage with lesson concepts, questions, and tasks, and to demonstrate understanding of the lesson’s objectives.\(^2\)
- Students use online resources and/or instructional tools to research, gather, synthesize, and create information.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 4 in this criterion:

All indicators for Level 3 are met, and some or all of the following evidence is demonstrated:

- Students synthesize diverse perspectives or points of view during the lesson to construct knowledge or create new meaning.
- Students skillfully communicate their thinking and reasoning processes, and encourage their peers to do the same, when appropriate.
- Students independently select and utilize online resources and/or instructional tools to create understanding and work products.\(^3\)
I-5 Maximizes Instructional Time

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 1 in this criterion:</th>
<th>The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 2 in this criterion:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>• Teacher uses low-impact instructional strategies that use class time inefficiently and limit students’ opportunities to master lesson objectives.</td>
<td>• Teacher selects efficient instructional strategies but may spend too much time on one part of the lesson.¹</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Students and teacher execute classroom routines and procedures in an inefficient manner that results in significant loss of instructional time, or teacher does not design or reinforce classroom routines and procedures.</td>
<td>• Teacher designs classroom routines and procedures but may not consistently implement them or model and teach them to students.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Students are idle while waiting for the teacher or are left with nothing meaningful to do for a substantial percentage of lesson time.</td>
<td>• Students generally engage in productive learning activities from the start of class until the end of class, although they may be idle for short periods of time while waiting for the teacher to provide directions after finishing assigned work early or during transitions.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• Students execute classroom routines and procedures but require significant direction from the teacher that results in disruption of the learning process.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to: classroom observations, reviews of planning materials, and reviews of individual and group student work products.

Notes:

1. For example, teacher may select an effective instructional strategy but may spend too much time on a “do now” or spend too much time on direct instruction relative to the time spent on guided and independent practice.
2. “High-impact” instructional strategies are those that result in high levels of student learning, given limited class time, and that may also incorporate the use of technology.
3. For example, attendance, distributing or organizing materials, using the HUB to post classroom logistics, lining students up, and dismissal.

<td>• Teacher effectively designs, teaches, and implements consistent classroom routines and procedures that allow students to maximize time spent on learning activities.³</td>
<td>• Students, individually or collectively, assume responsibility for routines and procedures and execute them in an orderly, efficient, and self-directed manner that requires little or no direction from the teacher.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Teacher directs classroom aides, paraprofessionals, and other classroom support personnel in a manner that effectively supports lesson objectives.</td>

1–6 COMMUNICATES CONTENT AND CONCEPTS TO STUDENTS

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 1 in this criterion:

- Teacher explains concepts or skills with a lack of clarity or coherence that impedes student understanding of content.
- Teacher uses language or explanations that are not developmentally appropriate.
- Teacher may convey inaccurate content to students or does not communicate the information necessary for mastery of unit and lesson objectives.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 2 in this criterion:

- Teacher explains concepts and skills, but delivery is not consistently organized in a way that effectively facilitates learning.
- Teacher occasionally explains content at too high or too low of a development level for students or inadequately explains new vocabulary.
- Teacher conveys accurate information to students but inconsistently emphasizes key points and enduring understandings.

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to: classroom observations, reviews of planning materials, and reviews of individual and group student work products.
The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 3 in this criterion:

- Teacher explains concepts and skills clearly and coherently.
- Teacher conveys accurate content to students.
- Teacher uses developmentally appropriate explanations and explains new terms and vocabulary.
- Teacher emphasizes key points needed to master lesson objectives.
- Teacher communicates content and skills using visuals or technology in situations where such methods facilitate student understanding of lesson objectives.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 4 in this criterion:

All indicators for Level 3 are met, and some or all of the following evidence is demonstrated:

- Teacher creates opportunities for students to take leadership roles in communicating lesson content to each other when appropriate.
The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 1 in this criterion:

- Teacher does not consistently convey the belief that students will be successful in the class or reinforces the expectation that students will not meet annual learning goals.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 2 in this criterion:

- Teacher consistently conveys the belief that all students will be successful, although that belief may not be explicitly tied to performance expectations for specific goals.
- Teacher emphasizes the need for students to work hard but does not connect student effort with lesson objectives.

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to: classroom observations, reviews of planning materials, reviews of individual and group student work products, and reviews of student progress data and tracking.

Notes:

1. The unit objectives, annual goals, and individual learning goals should be the same objectives assessed in Criterion PL-1: “Develops student learning goals,” and Criterion PL-3: “Designs effective lesson plans, units, and assessments.”
2. This can be observed when students are tasked with a challenging assignment, and the teacher uses various strategies to encourage and motivate students toward success.
3. For example, teacher shows students models of exemplary work when introducing an assignment or when students have completed a unit of study.
The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 3 in this criterion:

- Teacher communicates and reinforces the expectation that all students will meet annual learning goals and connects this achievement to students’ long-term or personal goals.¹
- Teacher encourages students to work hard toward mastering lesson objectives and to persist when faced with difficult material.²
- Teacher highlights examples of recent student work that meet high expectations.³
- Teacher creates a learning environment in which students regularly use technology tools in activities that may have been impossible to engage in without technology.
- Students complete complex tasks and persevere when facing learning challenges.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 4 in this criterion:

All indicators for Level 3 are met, and some or all of the following evidence is demonstrated:

- Teacher reinforces the expectation with students that they will meet annual learning goals and creates a sense of possibility by articulating specific strategies by which individual students will overcome academic challenges.
- Students have opportunities to regularly use technology tools in activities that may have been impossible to engage in without technology.

| • A significant percentage of students are disengaged or do not comply with teacher directions during direct instruction, independent practice, or group work. | • Students passively comply with the teacher’s directions by completing the minimum requirements necessary to avoid redirection or other negative consequences from the teacher.
• Students complete the minimum requirements during independent practice or group work. |

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to: classroom observations, reviews of individual and group student work products, and direct questioning of students during an observation.

Notes:
1. This indicator can be assessed through direct interactions with students, or when the teacher creates opportunities for students to discuss annual learning goals.
The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 3 in this criterion:

- Students demonstrate engagement during direct instruction by participating in and completing instructional tasks, volunteering responses to questions, following teacher directions, and asking appropriate questions.
- Students display active effort in learning activities during independent and group work.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 4 in this criterion:

All indicators for Level 3 are met, and some or all of the following evidence is demonstrated:

- Students connect mastery of lesson objectives to their long-term academic and personal goals and interests.\(^1\)

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to: classroom observations, reviews of classroom management materials, and direct questioning of students during an observation.

Notes:
1 Evidence supporting this indicator may include but is not limited to teachers providing behavior corrections calmly and consistently. Appraisers should use discretion in rating this indicator in extreme situations where the teacher needs to interrupt the lesson to ensure student safety.
The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 3 in this criterion:

- Teacher effectively implements district and campus discipline management procedures.
- Teacher consistently communicates high behavioral expectations with students, addresses non-compliance, and reinforces appropriate behavior, as needed.
- Teacher maintains lesson momentum because there is no inappropriate or off-task behavior, or because the teacher redirects it in a subtle and preventative manner.\(^1\)
- Teacher consistently follows-through with consequences that are logical, appropriate to the level of student behavior, and effective at changing student behavior, when necessary. Students demonstrate a clear understanding of behavioral expectations and rules through their actions.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 4 in this criterion:

All indicators for Level 3 are met, and some or all of the following evidence is demonstrated:

- Students demonstrate a clear understanding of behavioral expectations and rules through their actions and require little or no redirection from the teacher.
- Students demonstrate a sense of ownership of behavioral expectations by holding each other accountable for meeting them.
- Students express the understanding that classroom behavioral expectations and rules facilitate academic success.
I-10 Builds a Positive and Respectful Classroom Environment

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 1 in this criterion:

- Teacher inconsistently demonstrates respect for students.
- Teacher inconsistently communicates and reinforces expectations for student behavior and positive interactions between students.
- Students’ interactions with the teacher and their peers are frequently disrespectful.

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to: classroom observations and direct questioning of students during an observation.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 2 in this criterion:

- Teacher demonstrates respect for all students but may occasionally use a negative tone with students.
- Teacher communicates expectations for positive student behavior and interactions between students.
- Students respect the teacher but may inconsistently show respect for their peers.

Notes:

1 For example, teachers build positive teacher-student and student-student relationships by routinely incorporating strategies that promote student-student interest in perspectives and provide opportunities for students to demonstrate respect for peers.
The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 3 in this criterion:

- Teacher demonstrates caring and respect for all students and creates a positive, energetic, safe, and orderly climate and culture in the classroom.
- Teacher communicates and reinforces expectations for positive student behavior and interactions between students, including a respect for individual, cultural, and linguistic differences.
- Teacher arranges and organizes furniture, supplies, reference materials, and student work in a way that supports learning activities.
- Students demonstrate respect by actively listening and responding positively to each other and to the teacher.
- Students articulate that they are members of a global society and demonstrate flexibility and cross-cultural skills when interacting with peers.

The following best describes a teacher performing at Level 4 in this criterion:

All indicators for Level 3 are met, and some or all of the following evidence is demonstrated:

- Students demonstrate ownership of classroom environment by encouraging their peers to interact positively with one another.
- Students cooperate and collaborate without teacher direction to support their peers and encourage them to achieve academic success.
- Students embrace new ideas and motivate their peers to be open to change.
PR-1 Complies with Policies and Procedures at School

Level 1: The following indicators best describe a teacher who falls “Far Below Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher does not comply with federal and state laws and policies.
- Teacher does not follow district and local school policies on multiple occasions.

Level 2: The following indicators best describe a teacher who falls “Slightly Below Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher complies with federal and state laws and policies.
- Teacher follows district and local school policies although may need frequent reminders or monitoring to do so.

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to: teacher’s discipline file, tutoring logs, student grade book, review of annual/unit/lesson planning materials.

---

Notes:

1. “Federal and state laws and policies” may include but are not limited to IDEA, 504, Title III, the Texas Education Code, and the Texas Administrative Code.
2. “District and local school policies” include policies governing: deadlines for lesson plans; progress reports and report cards; maintaining accurate and clear attendance, homework and grade book records on the school’s student information system; Student Code of Conduct.
3. “Finding innovative ways and/or invests effort” may include but is not limited to actions where the teacher takes leadership roles in developing school or district policy or provides support to colleagues to help policies succeed.

PR-2 TREATS COLLEAGUES WITH RESPECT THROUGHOUT ALL ASPECTS OF WORK

Level 1: The following indicators best describe a teacher who falls “Far Below Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher’s conduct inconsistently reflects the Educator’s Code of Ethics.
- Teacher interacts negatively with colleagues and/or supervisors on multiple occasions.

Level 2: The following indicators best describe a teacher who falls “Slightly Below Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher’s conduct reflects the Educator’s Code of Ethics.
- Teacher interacts respectfully and professionally, with minor exceptions, with colleagues and/or supervisors to contribute to a caring, inclusive culture.

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to: copies of communication with colleagues, peer feedback, interactions with the teacher outside of the classroom.

Notes:

1. “Interactions” may include but are not limited to written, verbal, and non-verbal interactions.
2. “Interacts respectfully and professionally” may include but is not limited to: proactively building positive relationships with colleagues and/or supervisors by making new staff members feel welcome or providing colleagues with encouragement and support.

Appraisers should take into account the teacher’s tone, the context, and others’ reactions when determining whether a teacher interacts respectfully and professionally with colleagues or supervisors. For instance, a stern or assertive tone does not necessarily constitute disrespect. Similarly, a sarcastic tone can be respectful and demonstrate positive rapport, even though at other times it can constitute disrespect.
Level 3: The following indicators best describe a teacher who “Meets Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher’s conduct reflects the Educator’s Code of Ethics.
- Teacher interacts respectfully and professionally with colleagues and/or supervisors to contribute to a caring, inclusive culture.¹

Level 4: The following indicators best describe a teacher who “Exceeds Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher’s conduct reflects the Educator’s Code of Ethics.
- Teacher interacts respectfully and professionally with colleagues and/or supervisors, and consistently promotes respect and professionalism to contribute to a caring, inclusive culture.²
PR-3 Complies with Teacher Attendance Policies

Level 1: The following indicators best describe a teacher who falls “Far Below Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher fails to secure the services of an associate teacher in a timely manner when planning to be absent from school.
- Teacher fails to secure a leave of absence in a timely manner when planning to be absent from school for an extended period of time.
- Teacher, on multiple occasions, arrives late to school and/or arrives late for scheduled classes or other scheduled duties.

Level 2: The following indicators best describe a teacher who falls “Slightly Below Expectations” for this criterion:

- When the teacher plans to be absent from school, the teacher complies with district and local policies by securing the services of an associate teacher in a timely manner.
- When the teacher plans to be absent from school for an extended period of time, the teacher follows district policies and procedures to secure a leave of absence.
- Teacher, with rare exceptions, arrives to school on time and is punctual for scheduled classes and other scheduled duties.

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to:

- School attendance records, teacher’s discipline file.

---

Notes:

1. “Scheduled duties” may include but are not limited to pick-up times and meetings.

Appraisers should take note that a teacher should not be penalized in this area for events beyond a teacher’s control. Some examples include: the substitute teacher not showing up; the district fails to process FMLA paperwork in a timely manner; or unforeseeable events that cause the teacher to be late (e.g., car accident, illness of a child, etc.).
Level 3: The following indicators best describe a teacher who “Meets Expectations” for this criterion:

- When the teacher plans to be absent from school, the teacher complies with district and local policies by securing the services of an associate teacher in a timely manner.
- When the teacher plans to be absent from school for an extended period of time, the teacher follows district policies and procedures to secure a leave of absence.
- Teacher arrives to school on time and is punctual for scheduled classes and other scheduled duties.¹

Level 4: Not applicable to this criterion

- Teacher’s discipline file, interactions with teacher.
Level 3: The following indicators best describe a teacher who “Meets Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher dresses in a manner that is appropriate for the teacher’s job assignment and in a manner that reflects positively on the district.

Level 4: Not applicable to this criterion
PR-5 Collaborates with Colleagues

Level 1: The following indicators best describe a teacher who falls “Far Below Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher resists or avoids collaboration and/or does not collaborate and share new ideas with colleagues.
- Teacher resists or avoids participation in school work teams and committees.
- Teacher resists or avoids support from colleagues or supervisors.

Level 2: The following indicators best describe a teacher who falls “Slightly Below Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher shares ideas and new approaches with colleagues in an effort to drive learning forward in every classroom although requires frequent reminders or monitoring to do so.
- Teacher participates and contributes to school work teams and committees although requires frequent reminders or monitoring to do so.
- Teacher accepts support from colleagues or supervisors when offered although requires frequent reminders or monitoring to do so.

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to:
copies of communication with colleagues, professional development artifacts, meeting minutes, or agendas.

Notes:

1 Examples of forums where a teacher has the opportunity to collaborate with colleagues may include, but are not limited to: team meetings, faculty meetings, data action planning, and Professional Learning Communities (PLCs).
Level 3: The following indicators best describe a teacher who “Meets Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher consistently collaborates and shares ideas and new approaches with colleagues in an effort to drive learning in every classroom.
- Teacher participates and effectively contributes to school work teams and committees.
- Teacher seeks and accepts support from colleagues or supervisors as needed to drive student learning.

Level 4: The following indicators best describe a teacher who “Exceeds Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher initiates or leads collaboration and the sharing of ideas and new approaches with colleagues in an effort to drive learning in every classroom.
- Teacher assumes leadership roles in school work teams and committees, and/or seeks opportunities to mentor others.
- Teacher seeks and offers support to colleagues or supervisors as needed to drive student learning forward.
- Teacher seeks and accepts opportunities with business and/or community partners to support authentic, work-based, college-ready instruction.

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to: teacher’s discipline file, classroom observations, walkthroughs, interactions with the teacher outside of the classroom.

Notes:

1 “School rules” may include but are not limited to: the campus discipline management plan and the campus safety plan guidelines; such as, fire drills, shelter-in-place, etc.

2 “Promotes positive campus culture” may include teacher implementation of school rules outside of classroom that promote a positive school climate.

<tr>
<td>• Teacher responds to routine parent contacts within 24-48 business hours of receiving the initial concern or correspondence or refers the matter to her/his supervisor although requires frequent reminders or monitoring to do so.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to:
copies of communication logs, copies of communication with parents/guardians.

Notes:

1. Types of parent communication may include but are not limited to: conferences, letters, email, newsletters, and/or phone calls. Teacher should communicate with parents regarding positive or negative student performance or behavior.
2. “Effective” communication is verbal or written communication that provides parents or guardians with individualized information about their student’s performance, behavior, and school events. “Effective” communication is distinguished from a mere notification of receipt or any type of fill-in-the-blank letter that does not provide information specific to the student.
Level 3: The following indicators best describe a teacher who “Meets Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher consistently and effectively communicates with parents or guardians regarding student performance and behavior.¹
- Teacher responds to routine parent contacts within 24-48 business hours of receiving the initial concern or correspondence or refers the matter to her/his supervisor.

Level 4: The following indicators best describe a teacher who “Exceeds Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher consistently and effectively communicates with parents or guardians regarding student performance and behavior, and that communication leads to changes in student behavior.²
- Teacher responds to routine parent contacts within 24-48 business hours of receiving the initial concern or correspondence or refers the matter to her/his supervisor.
- Teacher provides opportunities for parents or guardians to engage in meaningful activities that support student learning and/or a positive school culture.
Level 1: The following indicators best describe a teacher who falls “Far Below Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher inconsistently initiates and solicits feedback from instructional leaders, teacher leaders, colleagues, or outside resources to improve instructional effectiveness.

Level 2: The following indicators best describe a teacher who falls “Slightly Below Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher initiates and solicits feedback from instructional leaders, teacher leaders, colleagues, or outside resources to improve instructional effectiveness although requires frequent reminders or monitoring to do so.

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to: copies of communication with colleagues, student work products, interactions with the teacher outside of the classroom.

Notes:

1 An example of how a teacher “initiates and solicits feedback” is a teacher who, upon self-reflection on his or her practices, requests a colleague to observe his or her practice to obtain feedback.
Level 3: The following indicators best describe a teacher who “Meets Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher initiates and solicits feedback from instructional leaders, teacher leaders, colleagues, or outside resources to improve instructional effectiveness.¹

Level 4: Not applicable to this criterion
PR-9 Participates in Professional Development and Applies Learning

Level 1: The following indicators best describe a teacher who falls “Far Below Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher refuses or avoids collaborating with school and/or district leaders to identify professional development opportunities to enrich instructional effectiveness for reaching diverse learners.

- Teacher inconsistently participates in professional learning experiences and/or inconsistently applies professional learning experiences to improve student outcomes.

Level 2: The following indicators best describe a teacher who falls “Slightly Below Expectations” for this criterion:

- Teacher collaborates with school and/or district leaders to identify professional development opportunities to enrich instructional effectiveness for reaching diverse learners.

- Teacher participates and effectively implements professional learning experiences to improve student outcomes although requires frequent reminders or monitoring to do so.

Possible sources of evidence for this criterion include but are not limited to:
- Sign-in sheets for professional development, meeting minutes/agendas, professional development artifacts, student work products.

---

Notes:

1. “School and/or district leaders” include but is not limited to: appraisers, teacher leaders, Teacher Development Specialists, and instructional coaches.

2. “Professional learning opportunities” refer to any activity that supports teachers’ continual development of the technical, content, and pedagogical skillsets necessary for teaching diverse learnings. Professional learning experiences may include but are not limited to: school- or district-based professional learning activities; state, national, and international conferences. School-based professional learning experiences may include but are not limited to grade-level or departmental activities and participation in Professional Learning Communities (PLCs).
